

H.S. Seniors Here Today

High school students swarmed the Wartburg campus today for the fifth annual Fall Senior Day.

According to Public Relations Director Norm Fintel, this is to be a day especially designed for high school seniors and one of "comparatively few but worthwhile activities."

Schedule Filled

Schedule for the day included registration and tours from 8 to 9:30 a.m.; a welcome program in Knights Gymnasium from 9:30 to 10 a.m.; three counseling sessions from 10 to noon; and lunch, tours of the campus led by Wartburg students and admissions counseling sessions until 1:30 p.m.

Seniors are then invited to attend the Wartburg vs. Simpson football game. A coffee hour, which is an addition to this year's program, is planned following the football game. According to Fintel this will be a time for the seniors to become better acquainted with the Wartburg faculty.

27 Varieties Available

Counseling sessions were offered in 27 vocational areas.

Admissions counseling sessions were led by Fintel, Admissions Director Fred Thompson and Public Relations men Don Claggett and Jim Adix.

"As many as two hundred students can be expected to attend a Fall Senior Day," stated Fintel. "The crowd varies from year to year. In the field of actual counseling, this day can be a big help and a lot of value for high school seniors."

Senate Decides To Drop Membership In Intercollegiate Association Monday

The Student Senate, at a meeting held last Monday evening, decided to drop its membership in the National Student Association. NSA is an organization for student governments on college campuses.

Bathgate Elected

Another item of business at the Monday evening meeting was the election of Don Bathgate, senior business administration major from Toluca, Ill., as a student representative on the Waverly Junior Chamber of Commerce. Don was selected from the various qualifying students who applied for the position.

Don will be a full participating member of the Chamber of Commerce, attending the bi-monthly meetings and holding voting privilege. The purpose of this step is to enhance relations between the college and the community, according to Litzner.

Hummel Reports

On the senate agenda also was a report by senior Gary Hummel on the St. Olaf Conference of Evangelical Lutheran Church schools for student governments, which several student senators recently attended.

Wartburg was invited to attend this conference because of the approaching merger within the Lutheran Church. This conference was felt to have been beneficial in cementing relations between ALC and ELC colleges.

The Wartburg senate decided it would like to hold membership in a student government organization for Lutheran colleges.

Things will be back to normal next week unless Trumpet boss Flachman can't resist the lure of the lights. In which case there may or may not be a Trumpet next week. But then, in all probability, Flachman, like MacArthur, will return.

Cat's Away!

Behind every man there's a woman, and here she is. Trumpet Managing Editor Linda Mugridge is editing this week's paper while "the boss" (Wilbur Flachman) is in New York City attending the Associated Collegiate Press Convention. He is accompanied by Castle Editor Grace Jahn and Fortress Co-editor Lorraine Fiegen.

Waring's latest cross-country tour concert, will be presented at Knights Gymnasium on Sunday, Nov. 15, at 8 p.m.

Stereo Festival New

"Stereo Festival" is an entirely new Waring specialty, featuring the Pennsylvanians—glee club, orchestra and soloists. It is a different type of musical variety show, a departure from the traditional concert type program.

Stage scenery, extensive wardrobe and electronic effects plus Waring's Pennsylvanians produce a startling musical pageant. In "Stereo Festival," stereophonic sound is incorporated into a live performance for the first time in stage and musical history.

Becker Asks New Dorms, Board And Room Raises

By Don Keene

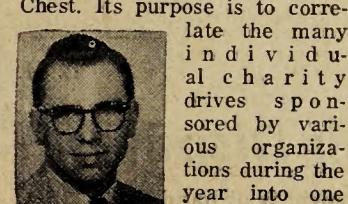

Recommendations for two new dormitory units, an increase in board and room rates, honorary degrees and other topics will be discussed next Thursday at the Board of Regents meeting here, beginning at 9 a.m.

Chest Drive Starts Soon

"Give as God Has Given You."

That is the theme chosen for the 1959 Wartburg Campus Chest Drive to be held the first week in December, according to Ron Freemark, drive chairman.

Campus Chest is similar to the well-known Community Chest. Its purpose is to correlate the many individual charity drives sponsored by various organizations during the year into one inclusive campaign.

Freemark

The Campus Chest Committee has designated the following charities as recipients of this year's receipts: Wartburg Student Memorial Fund, which gives financial aid for travel to Wartburg students in the event of a death in the immediate family; LS Action, a student's counterpart of Lutheran World Action; World University Service, an aid to students the world over; and CARE, Cancer Fund, Heart Fund and Mental Health, whose services are self-explanatory.

Solicitations will begin the week following Thanksgiving vacation.

"I am recommending that the Board of Regents instruct the Building Committee of Wartburg College to proceed immediately with the development of blueprints and plans for two additional dormitory units," stated Pres. C. H. Becker.

Becker Recommends

President Becker will recommend that the American Lutheran Church Board of Trustees give the college permission to borrow money for these two dormitory units from the federal government under a 40-year amortization program.

If the Board does not accept the recommendation, Wartburg College desires to be authorized to borrow 75 per cent of the cost of these dormitory units from the present ALC. The Development Association would be entrusted with the responsibility of the remaining 25 per cent for the cost of building the dormitory units during the next two years.

The Board of Regents will be recommended to increase the tuition rate per semester hour for all students taking less than 12 semester hours or more than 18 semester hours.

Rates May Increase

"I am recommending that we do not raise tuition, but I am recommending a slight increase in board and room rates," declared Dr. Becker.

However, even with these increases, rates still would not be as high as at most other schools, according to Dr. Becker.

Recommendations that honorary degrees be presented to two people will be made to the Board.

Dr. Becker will also recommend that C. Robert Larson, of the Music Department, be granted a leave of absence to complete graduate studies.

Presentation of a three-year budget will be made at the meeting. This is the first time that it has been presented this early in the year, and also the first time a budget has been prepared to cover three years.

Dedication Planned

"I shall recommend that the chapel-auditorium be dedicated at the time of spring commencement, if the building is completed. If it is not, then it could be dedicated at next year's Homecoming festivities," said the college president.

To approve the philosophy major and the psychology major as separate majors will be another task of the Board. If this proposal is accepted, the philosophy-psychology major and the psychology-education major would be dropped.

Constitution of the new college congregation will be submitted to the Board for approval.

President Becker will also recommend changes in the college constitution, so as to bring it into conformity with the constitution of the newly merged church.

STANDING ROOM only remains for the Fred Waring Artist Series tomorrow night. Several hundred requests for tickets have been turned down since Nov. 6, the day tickets were last sold.

system. Stereophonic sound will bring the performance to the audience and enrich the music while allowing the demonstration of novel techniques.

"Stereo Festival" is just another indication of Waring's versatility as he has challenged vaudeville, Hollywood, radio, Broadway and television. With a career spanning four decades,

Fred Waring has become internationally renowned.

As a boy in his hometown of Tyrone, Pa., his career probably started as the leader of the Boy Scout Drum Corps. He formed the "Banjazzat," a banjo group of four, while still a teenager. This gradually enlarged into "Waring's Colleagues."

Devotional Material Is Help

The Religious Activities Committee of the Student Senate is trying something new this year.

Mimeographed devotional material and song sheets designed for nightly use are being distributed to the dormitories. In the past, dormitory devotions were left entirely in the hands of individual floors. Along with uniform devotions, the Committee encourages division of each floor into devotional groups of 10 or 12 people to facilitate discussion.

The devotional material, which is merely suggested, not compulsory, is prepared individually by the six members of the Religious Activities Committee. According to one Committee member, three reasons underlie the new system: desired unification of campus devotion, presentations at student level and general ignorance of second verses of hymns.

Although snags have developed in the program, as a whole it has been quite successful. A student from Grossmann Hall said he thought it was one of the best religious innovations on campus.

According to an old cliche, however, actions speak louder than words. One dormitory hasn't picked up its devotional material for the past three weeks, and another forgot last week. In other dormitories the prepared devotions are used only occasionally.

The discussion questions and division of each dormitory into smaller groups, the very features some students consider the best in the program, are attacked by the non-devotion users. In other instances, the "Portals of Prayer" habit is just too strong.

Where the devotions have been consistently used, however, they seem to be generally well received. The small discussion groups stimulate thinking. Uniform campus devotions also provide basis for discussions with students from other dormitories. The variety of the prepared devotions is good, although the quality of the content has not always been up to par.

All in all, the Religious Activities Committee, in trying to give campus worship a "shot in the arm," has succeeded rather well. May they not find their laurels too comfortable.

L. M.

Weather Equals Disputes

The season of the great schism is at hand.

Winds, promising six-foot snowdrifts, howl around the dormitories. Campus sidewalks have already been iced, much to the dismay of those with leather-soled shoes. In other words, Iowa weather has struck.

According to natives of Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota and other non-Iowa states, Iowa undoubtedly has the worst weather in the Midwest — or maybe even in the whole U.S. However, native Iowans do not view the matter in the same light.

Iowan and non-Iowan roommates have ceased speaking to each other because of Hawkeye weather. Cafeteria meals have ended in cold potatoes because of weather arguments. The friendly solidarity of the whole Wartburg family is undermined by Iowa weather.

Round and round goes the interminable argument. Is Iowa weather really so bad?

Let's look at some figures. This winter Iowa can expect a bit over 30 inches of snow, if averages hold true.

The average January temperature between 1873-1946 was 18.8 degrees. Then there was the 47 degrees below zero reading on Jan. 12, 1912.

In technical terms Iowa, along with most of the other Midwestern states, has a continental climate. So do Moscow, Budapest and the largest island in Japan. Extreme summer and winter temperatures are the rule throughout these regions.

Weather in Iowa should be no worse than weather in the rest of the Midwest. However, Iowa has one distinctive feature. In the middle of a land-controlled area, it is the crossroads for storm tracts from both the Gulf of Mexico and the polar regions. Because these storm tracts often encounter each other in Iowa, the weather here is subject to greater variance than in most surrounding states.

Iowa weather is undeniably Iowa weather.

But even though Iowa admittedly does attract weather extremes, Hawkeye inhabitants, temporary or permanent, can be comforted. The great variance in weather supposedly makes for healthy people. That is, if one doesn't die of pneumonia first.

Challenge Faces Every Endeavor

By Bob Mayer

The underlying significance of much that has occurred to the detriment of American interests in the past few years might be summed up in one word — challenge. On nearly every front of endeavor — military security, foreign policy, education, the direction of national purpose — this key force has become increasingly evident.

Yet precisely because these challenges to the effectiveness of the nation as a whole often operate apparently beneath the surface, many have and will continue to remain deceived as to the true state of affairs.

Others are lulled into a false security which hears, sees and speaks no evil. On every plane of national life can be observed the cult of those sanguine and naive citizens who persist in maintaining the quaint idea that American democracy can maintain itself on the basis of sheer inertia.

A group of distinguished American scientists just recently returned from the Soviet Union stated that while Russian science generally is not nearly so advanced as is often thought, what was profoundly impressive was the great momentum of the scientific drive as a whole. This same momentum undoubtedly exists throughout their socialistic system.

And this is the great lesson yet to be learned, that an organized, well-planned mobilization of resources under a single, centralized outline of purpose is as essential to the effectiveness of these United States as those ideals held to be self-evident.

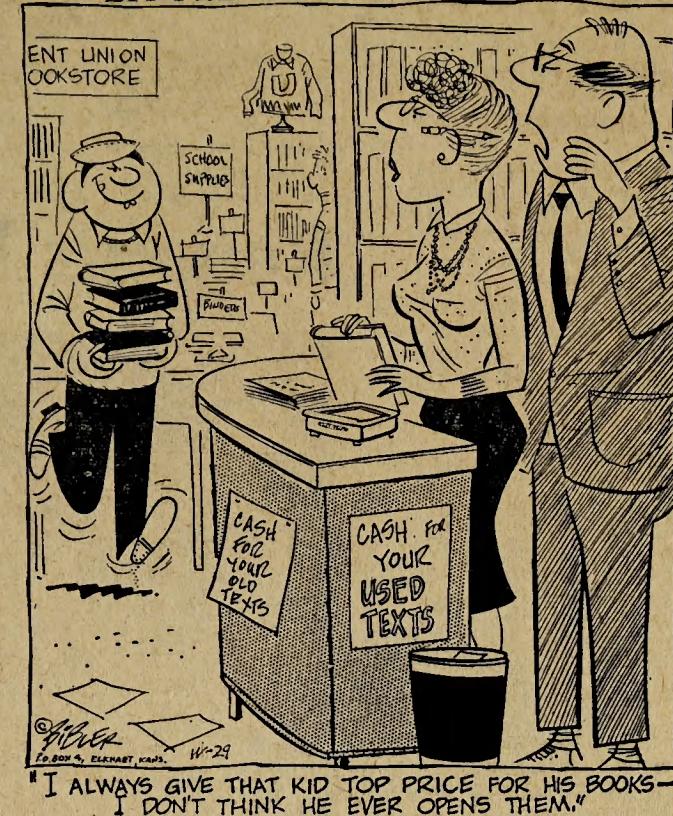

Yet this seems to be precisely what has not been comprehended, let alone accomplished. It is exactly what the missile-space program has failed to achieve.

It is just what the bickering, divided defense departments have refused to permit. Above all, it is at the heart of the administration's failure to properly assess the challenge of the times, and work to counteract the real dangers of internal disunity and weakness.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"I ALWAYS GIVE THAT KID TOP PRICE FOR HIS BOOKS — I DON'T THINK HE EVER OPENS THEM."

Mid Knight March

By Bob Solete

This is for the benefit of the gray-haired gentleman who shares the set of offices with Dr. C. H. Becker:

A battleship had docked in port and guided tours were being conducted. During the course of the tour, the group arrived at the bridge. The officer stopped the group and said, as he pointed to a brass plaque riveted to the deck, "Here is where our gallant captain fell."

An elderly lady on the fringe of the group piped up, "No wonder I almost tripped over the darn thing myself."

SNOWBALL SIMPSON

I have noticed that "Huckleberry Hound" is still number one on the students' list of educational TV. Don't fret, cowboy! The westerns run a close second.

SNOWBALL SIMPSON

Question of the week: Will Howard Schroeder again put himself in the spirit of things at tonight's campus movie? I heard that he fell off his chair during the brawl scene in "From Here to Eternity," and I'm wondering if he will drive a motorcycle off the stage during a rowdy scene from "Mr. Roberts."

SNOWBALL SIMPSON

The common cats of Wartburg are becoming the cultured cats of Wartburg. They have refined their tastes from the ordinary mixing with the masses and union snoozes to the thought-provoking discussions of Dr. Neumann's Shakespeare class. Don't be surprised if one of these four-legged creatures starts spouting lines from Shakespeare.

SNOWBALL SIMPSON

Speaking about the weather, it's "snow joke."

SNOWBALL SIMPSON

Don't be too surprised today if Simpson plods onto the field in snowshoes and parkas. This will be one of few times a Redman will leave the field a broken and dejected Eskimo.

Wartburg's Fall Sports Season Ends Here Today

Knights Seeking 2nd Championship

By Tom Kuckahn

Wartburg Knights, Iowa Conference league leaders, will meet the Simpson College Redmen, cellar dwellers of the conference, in the last game of the season for both teams this afternoon. Game time is 1:30 in Schield Stadium.

Wartburg is 7-0 in conference play, whereas Simpson has yet to win a game. The Redmen's record is an unimpressive 0-7. Wartburg is already assured of at least a tie for the title.

However, the battling Knights have no intention of sharing the title and will be "shooting the works" in an attempt to gain the outright loop crown.

Six End Pigskin Trail

Six seniors will be seeing action for the last time. They are ends Ray Boyens, Jerry Ford and Chuck Nichol; tackle Ron Krueger, guard Don Sahlung and fullback Larry Raper. So far in their college football career these men have been on the winning side 20 times while losing 12 and tying twice.

In their freshman year the Knights failed to win a conference game. These seniors and their teammates will be out to make the reverse come true today as they strive for an undefeated conference season.

Wartburg Aims At 15

While shooting for its 15th straight conference win, Wartburg will be aiming at several school records along the way. The Knights need six points to break the points-scored record of 201 set last year and one TD to break the record of 30 TD's also set last year.

Wartburg needs 297 rushing yards to break last year's mark of 1,878, which is the school record. The Knights also have a long shot at establishing a new total offense record for one year.

Records In Danger

Quarterback Marv Ott and

WARTBURG CROSS-COUNTRYMAN Don Dietzler works out on snow-less ground in preparation for today's conference meet. The contest was postponed because of snow.

halfback Dave Jensen both will be aiming for individual records. Marv needs 3 TD's to tie his own individual record of 12 TD's and 72 points which he set last year. Dave needs 3 points after touchdown to tie the record of 19 set last year by Denny Krominga.

Wartburg's starting line-up will remain the same as last week with changes only at the end spots. Boyens will start at left end and Nichol at right end. Lowell Junkman will retain his spot at left half.

IM Football Finishes Play

Intramural flag football ended this week, but there was no standstill in activity, as men's volleyball teams swung into action Thursday evening.

Waverly Off-campus won the flag football championship, but had to battle right to the end to win it. Off-campus defeated a rough Clinton II team 7-0 Wednesday to take the championship with a 9-0 record. Grossmann III placed a close second with an 8-1 record.

Larry Niemann, Neil Stuhmer and Dave Siefkes organized the program. They innovated an Intramurals Officials Organization, which eliminated many problems of officiating which had arisen in the past.

As far as the future is concerned, Niemann stated that IM volleyball will last until Christmas vacation. Following Christmas vacation men's basketball will commence.

Snow Postpones Running Tourney

Snow stopped the first conference cross-country meet cold today.

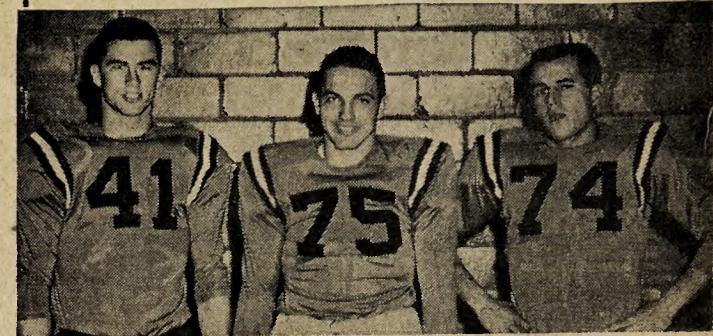

The meet, which was originally scheduled to be held today at 11:30 a.m., was postponed until 3 p.m. Friday, Nov. 20, at the Waverly Golf Course.

Dr. Ax Bundgaard, coach, in commenting on the meet, said, "I just hope we get some decent weather."

Six schools in the conference — Parsons, Luther, Simpson, Dubuque and Central, in addition to Wartburg — have a total of 43 harriers entered in the event, which might become an annual affair.

Wartburg goes into this final meet with a 1-6 record, the victory being over Simpson.

Lineman Of The Week

Niemann — Sowers — Sahling

Trumpet's seventh Lineman of the Week, the one for the Dubuque game, ended in a tie, with Don Sahling, senior from Chicago, Ill., and Don Sowers, sophomore from Sumner, each receiving two votes from the panel.

Trumpet's pick for the eighth Lineman of the week, the one for the Central game, went to Bob Niemann, sophomore from Charles City. Bob managed to block an extra point kick along with consistent defensive work.

RAY ROUNDS OUT ROSTER

Boyens Ends Pigskin Line For Seniors

By Charles Jepsen

As the football season wings rapidly toward its completion, so also does the list of senior football players come to an end.

Ray Boyens, 180-pound end, is the seventh player appearing for his final year in a Knights' uniform.

Boyens originally comes from Harvey, Ill., a suburb on the south side of Chicago. Out of a high school of three thousand students, Ray was good enough to earn a varsity football letter as an end.

Boyens At Line's End

Boyens has remained at an end position while at Wartburg and has lettered each year of his college competition.

In past years, Ray has played both on offense and on defense. Last year as an offensive end, he caught five passes good for 97 yards.

This year, however, he has become a defensive specialist for Coach Norm Johansen.

Illinois Is Home

The trek to Illinois Normal four weeks ago took Ray to within one hundred miles of his home town.

"It was a great disappointment to lose that day," said Ray, "because there were at least a dozen of my relatives watching the game."

In the fall of 1957, Ray missed the gridiron season when he and another fellow took a 10-month trip to Europe.

Boyens

Ray Sees Europe

Comments Ray, "We tramped all over Europe for a vacation. We just wanted to see the continent."

Boyens has the unusual ability for a man of being able to cook. His first three years at college found him employed as a nighttime chef at Carver's Restaurant here in Waverly.

Boyens, who is only five hours shy of being a second-semester senior, is a recent bridegroom, having exchanged wedding vows on Aug. 1 of this year. He now lives in Waterloo and commutes daily.

The All-Dressed-Up-and-No-Place-To-Go Club, which meets every Wednesday night at 6 p.m. in the Union, is getting a reputation for being the most inactive, but reliable, group on campus.

Four R's will meet this Thursday, Nov. 19, in Wartburg Hall Lounge. The speaker is Robert Smith, of the Speech Department, who will discuss blending religion into the secular subjects of a Christian Day School.

Mission Fellowship will meet this Monday in Clinton Hall Lounge at 7:30 p.m. The speaker will be a New Guinea missionary. Last Thursday the Young Republicans met and discussed politics to some degree. The speaker was Roger Lageschulte, who spoke on his trip to Washington, D.C. As far as we know, the meeting was unchallenged by Democrats, who are either in a state of apathy or non-existence at Wartburg.

2 Women To ISU

Mrs. Florence Hertlein, dean of women, and Dr. Lotus Kneif, of the Psychology Department, will represent Wartburg at a meeting of the personnel workers of Iowa colleges and universities Monday at Iowa State University in Ames.
